

Charles County Economic Development Department (EDD) Awards Contract to AVSI

The Charles County Department of Economic Development (EDD) awarded Advanced Vision Systems Inc. (AVSI) a contract to update the Department's website.

Under this contract, AVSI will support the EDD in areas of program management and coordination, and research and development of website content and graphics. AVSI will work closely with the County's IT Department to develop a new look and feel for the website.

"AVSI is proud to have been chosen to assist the EDD in taking their website in a new direction. Websites are powerful marketing and research tools. A great website is a valuable asset and essential in the generation of new business for the County. An added bonus of working closely with the County will enable us to become familiar with County policies and procedures; this has been a great partnership.
